

Public Moorings

Coral damage from carelessly placed anchors was recognized as a primary threat to the reefs and among the first issues addressed by DOE (then Natural Resources Laboratory) in the mid 1980's. The solution was to reduce the necessity for anchoring by providing permanent moorings. A system of eyebolts cemented to the seabed, pioneered by John Halas of the Key Largo Marine Sanctuary, was selected and installed at most recreational dive sites around the three islands. Cayman was the first location outside of the Florida Keys to implement this system, and to date nearly 300 moorings have been installed. The Department's Operations Section is responsible for installation and maintenance of the moorings.

Moorings at dive sites are identified by a white buoy with a blue stripe and are available to the public at no charge. Ten orange buoys with blue stripes are located at the George Town harbour and Spotts anchorage for visiting yachts. Use of all public moorings is subject to the regulations found below. Damaged or missing moorings should be reported to DOE by calling the office at 949-8469. Mooring Locations are listed below.

Use of Moorings

- Moorings for public use have been installed by the Department of Environment to prevent anchor damage to coral reefs. Please tie to a mooring buoy instead of anchoring whenever possible.
- A white buoy (either 18 or 30 inches in diameter) with a blue stripe and yellow mooring line may be identified as a public mooring. There are also four large orange moorings in the George Town harbour and five at the Spotts anchorage specifically for visiting yachts to use during their stay.
- The public moorings are provided for use by the general public. Any boat, private or commercial, including fishing vessels may tie on to the moorings provided that the following regulations are observed.
- Size Limits for vessels using the moorings are generally: vessels up to 60 feet may use 18" or 30" buoys; vessels over 60 feet and less than 100 feet may only use the larger 30" buoys. The larger buoys are secured to two eyebolts cemented into the seabed to take the load of larger vessels, the smaller buoys to only one.
- The buoy line should not be attached directly to the vessel. Please use your own bow-line with a minimum scope of ten feet run through the eye of the buoy's pick-up line to secure your vessel.
- Using your own bow-line increases the shock absorbency of the buoy and prevents chafing of the buoy line.
- The safety of the vessel while on the moorings is the sole responsibility of the vessel operator. Please examine the condition of the mooring line and do not leave the vessel unattended while on the mooring.
- Please use good judgment when weather conditions are not ideal. Strong winds and heavy seas place a great strain on the moorings. Use a longer scope on the bowline and use a larger buoy if possible.
- Please reduce speed when passing within 100 yards of a vessel tied to a mooring. The boat wake increases the strain on the mooring, and the vessel may have divers on the surface or be fishing.
- Use of the moorings is regulated by the Department of Environment and vessel operators must comply with directions given by Marine Park Officers and D.O.E. staff.
- Please do not monopolise the mooring - there are many more boats in Cayman than there are buoys. Do not remain on the mooring for more than three hours.
- Vessels are not permitted to overnight on the moorings without the prior permission of the D.O.E. with the exception of visiting yacht moorings.
